INCREASING BEHAVIORAL HEALTH ACCESS: IMPLEMENTING STEPPED CARE MODELS TO DECREASE BARRIERS AND USE RESOURCES EFFECTIVELY

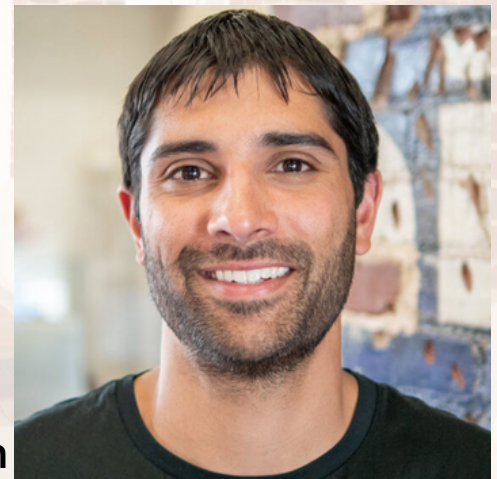

With ever-growing student mental health and the well-being needs in the new hybrid context, many campuses are offering a plethora of resources across multiple modalities. This presentation will analyze the benefits of implementing an integrated stepped-care model to better support student mental health and well-being by decreasing barriers and matching students with appropriate levels of care. The presentation will highlight successes, lessons learned, and replicable insights that can be implemented on campuses.
